The Senate Commiltee on Territories to-day acte a favorable report on the Senate bill to adate Colorado into the Union, concluding as fol-mit Colorado into the Union, concluding as 101tows:

As it has been the practice of the Government to admit new States without requiring any specifield amount of population, and as the present population of Colorado appears to be equal to or more thru many of the States heretofore admitted, and as it appears it is almost the unantmous wish of the people to be admitted under the present bill, and as Congress has expressly voted her admission by one enabling act, it seems but just to the people of Colorado that the plighted faith of the Government should be made good by the admission of the State, which your Committee unantimously recommend.

The Committee show an improved condition of the Territory, including an increase of population since the former bill was valoed by the President.

The bill reported from the Committee on Forcign Affairs, concerning the rights of American citizens in foreign states, came up as the business of the merring hour, and a desultery discussion mosa as to the question of closing the debate and disposing of the various amendments which have been already suggested.

Mr. Banks declared himself unalterably opposed to hocoponating in the statutes of the United States the offensive English principle that the Legislature can confer or withhold the power of exparitation. That was the doctrine of Lord Patmerston's dispatch to Mr. Banks, having allowed the amendments of Mesers.
